Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. The local, womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down" or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office or schoolroom, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proven a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving powers.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Cures obstinate cases. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of "female weakness," painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the pelvic organs, weak back, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made from harmless but efficient medical roots found growing in our American forests. The Indians knew of the marvelous curative value of some of these roots and imparted that knowledge to some of the friendlier whites, and gradually some of the more progressive physicians came to test and use them, and ever since they have grown in favor by reason of their superior curative virtues and their safe and harmless qualities.

Your druggists sell the "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" and also that famous alterative, blood purifier and stomach tonic, the "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., of which he is chief consulting physician.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing Hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help.

If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

Too Many Laws, Says Archbishop Ireland.

The encroachment of lawmakers on civil liberty by the passing of too many laws and the enactment of hasty legislation against corporations were condemned yesterday by Archbishop John Ireland in a Washington's Birthday speech before the Sons of the American Revolution, in St. Paul, Minn., He said in part:

"In the intentions of the fathers of the republic political liberty was to be the guaradian and protector of civil liberty. It was thought that citizens being lawmakers, no laws would be enacted that would go beyond what was necessary in demanding restrictions of civil freedom.

"And yet, is their not some peril to civil liberty from political liberty, at least from what I may be allowed to call the exuberance, the riotousness of political liberty? As a matter of fact, we have too many laws; our legislatures are too anxious to increase the bulk of the statute book. As things are tending we shall soon have so many laws that, wrapped around, as it were, by serried mail, we shall become prisoners forbidden to stir or to walk."

The archbishop then pointed out that many laws were passed to satisfy the vanity, fancy, or political ends of legislators; many more as a result of a mania for moral reforms, and still others to satisfy a wild desire to curb successful business enterprises and legislate wealth to unsuccessful men. In most of these cases the laws were an incubus on civil liberty, because they were not inspired by a deep sense of patriotic justice to all classes. He added: "Above all other things, let us be sure to despoil ourselves of all throbbings of envy, jealousy and hatred in our clamorings for industrial legislation. There is in the land today the delusion that men may become rich through legislation in lieu of toil, talents, and economy; that to build up one class naught else is needed but to pull down another, and there is growing up among us a hatred of success in others, however much that success may have been the reward of most praiseworthy efforts."

Senator Bailey Cross-Examined.

Senator Bailey was under cross-examination before the Texas legislative investigating committee at Austin, yesterday. Representative Jenkins conducted the examination and asked questions outlined by Representative Cocke.

Senator Bailey declared that while his enemies had repeatedly tried to show that he only performed public service for private gain, that the facts in the case showed what malicious falsehoods his enemies were presenting to further unworthy ends; that while his enemies had placed a good many men on the witness stand to prove that he had borrowed money, that his enemies had selected only their special friends as witnesses and had been very careful not to summon as witnesses hundreds of men in Texas whom he had done great service for at Washington in many ways and never asked nor received the slightest compensation therefor.

The House committee voted to close the investigation yesterday afternoon, but there was a deadlock in the Senate committee, the committee voting 3 to 3 with but one member absent, and without action on the motion the joint committee adjourned until Monday morning.

Senator Bailey made his closing statement during the afternoon, in which he said that the investigation was the result of a political conspiracy.

In closing, Senator Bailey characterized the charges brought by Representative William A. Cocke as calumny. Senator Bailey wept as he told of the alleged persecution by his political enemies. He claimed that President Sam Houston had been persecuted, and that Stephen F. Austin had been driven into retirement by the persecutions of their political enemies in Texas.

There was a contest over the question as to whether the subcommittee should go to St. Louis and other points to search for H. Clay Pierce, and the House committee decided to abandon any attempt to secure this evidence. The Senate committee has not acted on this question. Present indications are that the Bailey investigation matter will be transferred from the committee to the floor of the legislature.

The Limit of Life.

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced knowledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the proper care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly urged; carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitalizes every organ of the body. Guaranteed by E. S. Leadbeater, & Sons, druggists.

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

RELY UPON

Newbro's Herpicide

Pilar Morin, the strikingly beautiful Parisian actress, of whom America's leading theatrical manager says: "I consider her the greatest actress in her line in all the world," writes as follows about Newbro's Herpicide:

"It is the most delightful hair dressing that has ever come to my notice. It prevents the hair from falling out, does away with dandruff, and gives the hair a beautiful luster."

Cordially yours,

(Signed) PILAR MORIN.

The fact that leading Parisian women prefer Newbro's Herpicide is certainly conclusive evidence of its superiority.

Beautiful, glossy hair, full of snap and life, is just as essential to a beautiful face as is the frame around a beautiful picture.

Nature does not permit every woman to have a great or unusual abundance of hair, but every woman who has reasonably good health may have beautiful hair if she will give it some care and attention.

First of all she must constantly strive to keep it free from the invisible, vegetable growth (the dandruff germ) that causes dull, brittle and lusterless hair with, later, dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

The only rational remedy for this purpose is Newbro's Herpicide, the original remedy that "kills the dandruff germ." In addition to its germ-destroying power, it is the most exquisite hair dressing in the world, for no other substance tends to beautify the hair as does Herpicide.

A TRUE BEAUTY TEST FOR WOMEN.

Just begin the intelligent use of HEPPICIDE in secret, and see how quickly your friends will notice the improvement in your hair.

Herpicide contains no grease. It will not stain or dye. Stops itching of the scalp. Send 10c in stamps to the Herpicide Co., Dept. L, Detroit, Mich., for sample.

Two Sizes, 50c and $1.00.

Marine Disaster.

A dispatch from Copenhagen says that an unknown three-masted vessel, probably Norwegian, and presumably bound from Norway to Bremen, went ashore off Fjaltring, on the west coast of Jutland. Owing to the violence of the gale it was impossible to send out the lifeboat. Five rocket lines were fired at the vessel without any success, and eventually she broke up completely. Her crew of eighteen men clung for a time to the rigging, but when the masts went by the board the sailors were swept away and drowned.

A dispatch from London says that two steamer wrecks were reported at a late hour last night by pasing vessels. One wreck is off Flamborough Head, in the English Channel. The weather is still stormy, especially in the North Sea.

SATURDAY EVENING, FEB. 23, 1907.

BEFORE THE debris from recent horrors could be removed from the gaze of passengers on passing trains another terrible railroad accident has occured by which the Pennsylvania Railroad's fast Chicago express, the most luxuriously equipped train on that road, has been derailed, killing numbers of persons outright and maiming others. The train was late and is said to have been running at the rate of 60 or 70 miles an hour when it left the rails. Such accidents are now of more common occurrence than during the infancy of traveling by rail, and one following another so closely is causing some whose avocations do not compel them to travel to defer proposed journeys. The record of railroad horrors in less than two months of the year 1907 is phenomenal. We live in a fast age when most people are in a hurry, and animated with a desire to annihilate time and space. The ill-fated train was scheduled to run between New York and Chicago in eighteen hours. Many are now living who can remember when it took almost as many days to make the trip. The desire to save time and the sharp competition of this day tempt people to run all sorts of risks, and they undress and retire in sleeping cars running at a frightful rate of speed with probably less apprehension of danger than they manifest in their homes, as in the former many live in dread of the mythical man under the bed. Taking in consideration the many things that could happen, the wonder is that more accidents do not occur from misplaced switches, careless operators, spreading rails, overheated journals, &c. Some railroad companies are considering the advisability of "cutting out" some of their fast schedules in the interest of safety. But the majority of travelers clamor for rapid transportation, and so long as this is the case accidents will not be materially decreased; hence the patrons of roads are, in a measure, responsible for existing conditions.

THE CHICAGO CHRONICLE says "that the reading public is becoming tired of the great bulk of some daily editions of newspapers and of most Sunday issues. It is impossible that such masses of printed matter should be read. They become wearisome and inspire the desire for less bulk and more cogency. There is a growing sentiment for smaller and more compact newspapers." The above expresses the convictions of a large number of publishers and readers of newspapers. In the competition in the journalistic field at the present time the newspaper has been overdone, and has become tiresome to a large percentage of sober-minded people. The Gazette has remained a four-page newspaper throughout its long life, and on but few occasions have the publishers been compelled to issue supplements in order to furnish the actual news, and then only when a President's or a Governor's message rendered such extra papers necessary. A recent comparison of the Gazette with a twelve-page paper published in a large city showed that when the latter had been denuded of its handbill headlines and the actual news extracted, the bulk of the reading matter exceeded but little that compactly printed in the Gazette. The printing press is one of the greatest blessings of the Christian era, but the indiscriminate and thoughtless use of printer's ink has brought about evils which are deplored by a large class of conservative people. The world is kept flooded with a class of literature which impedes the development of vigorous intellects, especially in the younger generation, most of whom ignore ancient and to a great extent modern history as well as other solid reading matter. The bulky Sunday newspapers have contributed in a measure toward bringing about such conditions.

THE SPEECHES made in this city yesterday and last night on the occasion of the celebration of Washington's birthday were all able, instructive and in good taste. The speaker of the day was, of course, Hon. C. A. Towne, of New York. His subject was George Washington and though it had been admitted that but little new could be said of that great man Mr. Towne presented him in a light in which perhaps he has never been presented before to an Alexandria audience. He portrayed Washington as foremost among the great men the world has ever produced and spoke of the influence which he exerted during his day, not only in the new, but in the old world, which influence for good, he held, still prevails. Mr. Towne is a speaker of national reputation and last night he more than sustained this reputation. He is a man of commanding presence, fine voice, graceful manner and gesture, easy flow of beautiful language, with facts and history at his ready command and taken altogether is one of the greatest speakers of his time. Mr. Flood in his address gracefully referred to Mr. Towne as the most patriotic citizen and unselfish man in public life today.

ABSINTHE drinking and the consumption of other alcoholic liquors in France have reached an alarming stage, and members of parliament are considering ways to restrict the evil. Unless radical measures are resorted to absinthe will work the utter ruin of France.

Washington, Feb. 23.

Including today there are just eight legislative days left before Congress reaches the end of its constitutional term on the 4th of March. It is probable, however, that the session of next Saturday, the 2nd of March, will be continued over Sunday without adjournment and that there will be considerable business done in the national legislature on the Sabbath. Every effort will be made to avoid this by meeting early every morning next week and by holding night sessions. The appropriation bills are in a very backward state but there is no reason to believe that they will not be completed in time to permit of the orderly adjournment of Congress. Only two of the fourteen big supply bills have yet been sent to the President for his signature. Seven of the others have been passed by the House, amended by the Senate and are now in the hands of conference committees. The postoffice, sundry civil and general deficiency appropriation bills have yet to be considered by the Senate and the latter has not yet been presented to the House. Next week will be devoted principally to the consideration of the appropriation bills. An effort will be made to secure the ratification of the Santo Domingo treaty. What is to be done in the House with the ship subsidy proposition has been the absorbing topic throughout the week. Speaker Cannon on Thursday refused the subsidyites a night session. The understanding is, however, that the subsidy men will be given a day or so in court and the measure, according to present indications, will be used as a filler during the coming week when the House is awaiting the report of the conferees on the many appropriation bills that are still in course of preparation.

The War Department will give Brig Gen. Fred. Grant a chance to say whether or not he was correctly quoted in the press reports of his remarks at the G. A. R. banquet in Philadelphia, last night. He was alleged to have criticized the President's course in compromising on an international question with the Mayor of San Francisco, and to have compared President Roosevelt's course with that which his own father, the late President Grant, would have taken under similar circumstances.

The report of Wm. D. Foulke, special inspector in the Indian service, upon the charges made against W. O. Bealle, Secretary of the commission to the five civilized tribes, has been received by the Senate committee on indian affairs. It finds that Bealle was guilty of many gross improprieties, bringing scandal on the commission, and recommends that he prohibited from further participation in any enrollment case before the commission and that his resignation should be demanded if he presists in taking part in the determination of such cases. It was charged that Beall was for a time employed by the firm of Mansfield, McMurray[] and Cornish, atterneys for the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations, who were then and have since been practicing before the commission. This is the firm which a year or so ago prosecuted a claim against the government successfully and received a fee of $750,000. Coming back to his position as secretary of the commission it was further charged that Beall proceeded to pass upon and adjudicate the rights of the parties whose cases he had prepared while in the office of said attorneys and that he was the subservient agent of said attorneys and ordered the preparation of decisions in accordance with their wishes. The charges affected to some degree Tams Bixby, a member of the commission, but Inspector Foulke did not go into that merely saying that Bixby did not seem to know as much as he should about what was going on in his office.

The largest balloon in the United States, "the America," was successfully launched into the air from the gas works in southeast Washington this afternoon. It carried the owner, J. C. McCoy, and two others. At 2 o'clock the balloon was caught in a cross current and started in the direction of Chesapeake Bay at a rate of about 10 miles an hour.

The Hon. James Bryce, the newly appointed British Ambassador to the United States, will be formally presented to President Roosevelt on Monday afternoon.

What amounts to a practical declaration of war by Honduras against Nicaragua has been officially communicated to the United States Government through American Minister Leslie Combs at Guatemaly.

The report of the interstate commerce commission on the "block" system on railroads was sent to the Senate today. It recommends the enactment of legislation to compel all roads to adopt the block system within the next three or four years.

Mr. Henry, of Texas, it is said, may be a candidate for Speaker of the next House.

Jail Delivery.

Dover, Del., Feb. 23.—With the makers of laws hard at work within sight, across the street, twenty-one prisoners in the old Kent county prison at Dover broke jail last night.

In plain sight of the spectators standing at the windows of the legislative halls, the score of dangerous prisoners, some murderers, dashed out and over the fences and took French leave.

The jail delivery had evidently been carefully planned. A large number of prisoners were allowed out for exercise in the corridors at one time.

Many men were deputized and a squad of militia called out.

About 14 prisoners are still at large.

Some of the prisoners who spent last night in fleeing from the militia and sheriff's posses after breaking jail, had frightful experiences. Juniper Benson, a fe prisoner, was frozen to death on the railroad station platform at Woodside. Many of the prisoners have already returned owing to the fact that they were unable to secure shelter or food.

Washington's Birthday was generally observed throughout the State.

He sent his visitors to Secretary Root to see about the matter.

Saved From the Sea.

By dint of courage and perseverance, which could not have been exceeded by any men in the world, the Dutch lifeboat men and their men and tugmen saved three women and eight men from the wreck of the Berlin off Hook of Holland yesterday afternoon.

The rescuers worked for nearly thirty-six hours in furious seas, smothering snowstorms, and intense cold. They were repeatedly baffled by waves which threatened to smash their small vessels like cups against the pier or wreck. They returned again and again whenever a change in the tide or a temporary abatement in the force of the gale caused a revival of hope, however slight, that they might reach the castaways.

They were all animated by a spirit which was put into words by Prince Henry after he had made his first visit to the neigoborhood of the wreck aboard a tug.

"We will not give up until we have saved them. We must get them somehow," said his royal highness; and not a man among the crews but had the same determination. Their heroism was rewarded.

Even now, however, their task is not complete, for there remain on the wreck two or three women, whom fear or exhaustion prevented from using the life lines by means of which their companions were rescued.

Renewed efforts are now being directed to save them, and as the gale has abated and the weather cleared somewhat, there is considerable hope of success.

Today's Telegraphic News

Another Terrible Disaster.

Johnstown, Pa., Feb. 23.—Ten persons are missing, a half dozen others are believed to be fatally injured, and more than a score are suffering from serious injuries as the result of the wrecking of the Pennsylvania Railroad's westbound flier No 29 at Mineral Point, eight miles east of here, at an early hour this morning.

Either spreading rails or a broken truck on the tender caused the disaster which resulted in five heavy Pullman cars, a combination car, an observation car and three sleepers leaving the track while they were being driven along at sixty miles an hour and crashing down into the Conemaugh river, 125 feet below.

A heavy coating of ice prevented the coaches from going through into the river, but it is believed that several bodies were forced through the ice and floated away.

At the time of the accident practically all the passengers were in their berths, and the exposure resulting from their being hurled out into the zero atmosphere is expected to result seriously for many.

At the present hour it is impossible to obtain a complete list of the injured, as some of the victims were brought here and others were rushed to Altoona.

The wrecked train left New York at 3:55 yesterday afternoon, but the engine, steaming poorly, the train left Altoona nearly an hour late. At the point where the accident occurred, midway between South Fork and Mineral Point, there is a very sharp curve in the track which has always been regarded as dangerous by railroad men. It was at this point that the coaches left the track, turning over and over as they rolled down the steep embankment to the river bed and carrying wires with them.

Few of the victims, all of whom were asleep at the time of the wreck, took any time to collect lost wearing apparel.

Apparently not a person on board had escaped injury in some form.

At the office of the chief train despatcher in Pittsburg, the cause of the wreck was given as follows:

"One of the bolts holding up the brake rigging under the engine snapped with the result that the brake shoes were let down on the rails. One of the brake shoes got under one of the main driving wheels and partly derailed the big engine. About three hundred yards of the track were torn up, after which the engine left the tracks and dragged with it the three rear cars. These cars slipped down the embankment and landed on their sides in the Conemaugh river, submerging them to the depth of about two feet. There were fifty-four passengers on board and all were more or less injured."

The President in Boston.

Boston, Feb. 23.—The Federal Express, bearing President Roosevelt and his party, reached the Back Bay station at 8:35, and was met by a crowd of persons. The President immediately entered the carriage of Dr. W. S. Bigelow and was driven to his home. Secretary Latta accompanied him, but left the carriage at the Bigelow residence and went to a near-by hotel. The rest of the President's party, including Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and Miss Ethel Roosevelt, remained in the private car Signet, which was switched to the Boston and Albany suburban circuit of the city where the ladies of the White House, will be guest of Mrs. George C. Lee, grandmother of Mrs Longworth.

At 11 o'clock the President stood godfather for the child of Guy Murchie, a Boston attorney and former rough rider.

The President's speech at the Harvard Union was the feature of his visit to Boston. The most interesting feature to many was his allusion to athletic sports. He said, among other things, that he did not favor the abolition of such because certain diversions were abused, and dwelt at length upon athletic sports, showing that they were essential to college life. He, however, warned his hearers not to allow themselves to fall into the error of supposing play to be the chief end of man. Play had its proper place in the college, but it should not be allowed to overshadow everything else. The President portrayed the benefit imparted to a country by good citizenship, and called attention to the fact that a man's natural endowments as well as his acquirements in knowledge should be kept in proper channels.

Destructive Fire.

Cumberland, Md., Feb. 23.—The roundhouse of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad at Mount Savage, nine miles from here burned today. Six locomotives were destroyed. The water pipes were frozen and little could be done to stop the fires. The night watchman is unable to tell how the flames originated. The lost is over $100,000.

Rome, N. Y. Feb. 23.—Fire early today destroyed the plant of the wire and Telephone Company of America, entailing a loss of $200,000. The fire originated in the boiler room of the works. The cold weather had frozen all the fire hydrants and the firemen were unable to successfully combat with the flames.

Newport, Maine., Feb. 23.—The town of Dexter is threatened by fire. Two hundred volunteer firemen are working in vain to check the flames, which broke out at midnight. Seven stores and a dozen dwellings have already been burned, and the loss now exceeds $100,000. Help was called from Bangor and Waterville. Tenants in the burning building aroused from sleep were thrown into a panic.

Asbury Park, N. J. Feb. 23.—Fire early today, caused by the explosion of a gas meter, destroyed the enterprise fire house Evan Gilluwe's grocery store narrowly escaped with their lives, losing all their effects. Loss $6,000.

Attempted Assassination.

Odessa, Russia, Feb. 23.—An attempt was made to assassinate Chief of Police von Gessberg, as he was driving through the city this afternoon. A bomb was thrown beneath his carriage, wrecking it and severely injuring Colonel von Gessberg. The would-be assassin escaped.

More Rescues.

Hook of Holland, Feb. 23.—The three survivors of the wrecked steamer Berlin who were left on the wreck when the others were taken off yesterday were rescued today. This brings the total number of survivors up to fifteen.

Every can of Argo Red Salmon contains one pound net. It is always guaranteed to be full weight. 15c a can.

The Thaw Trial.

New York, Feb 23.—Had Stanford White lived just one night longer than he did, his carreer as a high devotee would have been brought to a disgraceful close by a raid on one of his studios by the police. This is the statement made today by one of Thaw's attorneys. If necessary the defense is prepared to prove this White, it is said, had planned to give another of his famous dinners in a studio on the night of June 26. Had Thaw but waited the bringing of his enemy to justice before the bar of public opinion, as well as causing his degradation in the police courts, his course would have been accomplished.

The defense has in its hand, it is said, another strong card to play, if any weakening of Evelyn's testimony under Jerome's cross-examination demands it.

Two girls, victims of White, who suffered at his hands, almost in the same way as did Evelyn Nesbit, are at the command of the defense to tell their stories.

Matteawan is again the great cloud before the defense. Jerome, Thaw's lawyers believe, has practically given up hope of conviction. They expect him to bend all his energies to show that Thaw is insane now.

The Countess of Yarmouth, sister of Thaw, it was reported today, has eliminated herself entirely from the case. She has not visited the court house since the day she retired from the court room when Justice Fitzgerald permitted those women to leave who did not wish to hear unpleasant testimony. Nor has she visited Thaw in the Tombs, so far as anyone knows.

The statement made yesterday that Evelyn had been paid $300 000 to bring charges against White in her evidence is positively denied by members of the murderer's family.

Riders on Union Depot Bill.

Mr Babcock, chairman of the House District committee, filed his report yesterday on the bill to allow the street railways to lay their tracks to reach the Union station. In making the report the whole Senate bill was stricken out and a new bill drafted with important additions. The locomotive smoke bill and the broad tire bill, both of which have passed the House, and the extension of the Capital Traction lines along Florida avenue and down Eighth street northeast to Pennsylvania avenue southeast, which the Senate refused to pass, have been added as separate sections.

The bill as thus presented to the House takes out the connection proposed by the Senate for the Capitol Traction Company from North Capitol street to Seventh street northwest, and the company is authorized to make its connection with Seventh street from the Union station by using the existing tracks on Massachusetts avenue.

CONGRESSIONAL.

The Senate yesterday passed the Military Academy appropriation bill and agreed to the conference report on the legislative, executive and judicial bill. Several hours were devoted to debate on the forestry bureau item in the agricultural bill without any progress being made.

The Senate last night passed the pharmacy bill. No amendments were made, and the bill having come from the House now goes to the President for his approval. The bill abolishes the board of pharmaceutical examiners, creates a new board of pharmacy, and changes the name of the board of supervisors to "The board of medical supervisors of the District of Columbia."

The committee of the whole House adopted an amendment to the sundry civil bill limiting the power of the Interior Department in the matter of alleged fraudulent land entries; defeated an amendment providing money for the payment of the cost of transporting silver dollars to and from the treasury and disposed of all but eighty pages of the bill. The House cleared its calendar of pension bills, defeated Mr. Clark's Philippines resolution, adopted a resolution requesting information as to the relations between the railroads an coastwise shipping, and sent the criminal appeals bill to conference.

Mrs. McDonald's Mind Wrecked.

With her mind almost completely wrecked Mrs. Flora McDonald, who on Thursday shot and killed Webster S. Guerin, in Chicago, was removed that night to the annex of the Harrison Street Police Station, where her husband, Michael C. McDonald, spent most of the night with her. After her removal her condition became gradually worse and she could neither recognize McDonald nor others who had questioned her earlier in the day.

Bromides and hypodermic injections were given her almost every hour throughout the night, but she could not be quieted. Her mind wavered, and from her mutterings it was seen that all sorts of wild phantoms were floating before her.

From the time of the tragedy until a late hour Thursday night Mrs. McDonald talked in a rambling and disconnected manner, and little was obtained from her concerning the motive for the crime. From other sources, and also from pieces of crudely composed verses that were found in her handbag and taken from her after a struggle by a policeman, it was learned that Mrs. McDonald has been possessed of an all-absorbing love for someone.

The object of her affections is not disclosed in the verses, but developments after the tragedy led to the belief that it was Guerin.

It is said that Guerin recently became engaged to a young lady of Chicago. This situation was considered as significant, inasmuch as it may have meant that he had served notice on Mrs. McDonald that their relations must cease.

George Washington Birthday Association.

The banquet at McBurney's Hall given by the George Washington Birthday Association was in progress when the Gazette's report closed yesterday evening. The toasts were responded to as stated in the issue of that day.

Chairman A. D. Brockett, of the association, acted as toastmaster.

Among the speakers were two candidates for Congress from this district—Judge Charles E. Nicol, and Mr. C. C. Carlin, of this city. In the course of their remarks they made felicitous references to each other which brought forth applause of the audience.

Rev Charles D. Bulla, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, responded to the toast "George Washington."

He gave a striking review of the salient points in the history of George Washington. Mr. Bulla also touched upon the domestic life of Washington and closed with a presentation of his qualities as a christian gentleman.

"Washington's first birthday celebration," he said, "was held at the close of the revolutionary war, and now that his birthday has become a national festival, what place more appropriate to celebrate it than here in the good city of Alexandria, where he met with his friends on the last day his birth was celebrated in 1798. Washington was a greater patriot than soldier, and he was better than either as a christian."

Judge Nicol responded to the toast, "The Neighboring Counties." Speaking of Alexandria county, he prophesied for it brilliant progress along material lines. He said it is rapidly forging to the front with the prospect of being one of the wealthiest counties in Virginia. An undying name, he declared, attaches to it because it contains the home of Robert E. Lee.

Responding to the toast "Alexandria," Charles C. Carlin won the cheers of the guests in his references to the glory achieved by Virginians, especially those whose deeds have been connected with this city. Mr Carlin contended that Alexandria was the birthplace of American liberty, and in support of this claim cited historical facts. He informed his hearers that Washington was a great business man, as well as a great general and a statesman, and in connection with this he urged that Alexandria people should recognize that the future prosperity of their city depends upon adherence to the spirit of modern progressiveness. He closed his speech with a tribute to Alexandria. Judge R. T. W. Duke, of Charlottesville, responded to the toast, "Virginia," and made stirring address exciting much applause. He said that no State could have done more than Virginia, which gave to the nation Washington, Lee, and Jackson.

Washington Lodge Banquet.

The gathering in the Masonic Temple last night was one of the largest ever held there. Most of the members of the craft living in Alexandria were present, while a fair percentage of visitors were in the assemblage.

The night of the 22d of February having been a gala time in Masonic history in this city, and the celebration last night was as successful as that of any former year.

The members of the lodge and their guests assembled in the Sanctum Sanctorum (the upper chamber), the lodge room proper having temporarly been converted into a banquet hall.

The labors of the lodge were brief, and after adjournment all who had attended the meeting repaired to the room below where the tables had been spread and a tempting menu prepared by a committee of ladies. The tables extended from the east to the west. The room had been handsomely decorated, with flags and banners, while the tasteful manner in which the tables had been spread was justly admired.

Schroeder's string band was discoursing fine music when the company entered the banquet room.

Worshipful Master Thomas B. Cochran proceeded to the head of the table, and when music had ceased called the assembly to order, when Rev. P. P. Phillips, of St. Paul's Church, invoked a blessing upon the company.

The following menu, delightfully served, was then discussed with avidity:

Hors D'oeuvre—Huitres en ecailles en feux langue de boeuf, celeri, olives. Releves—croquettes de veau, petits pois Francais, pain. Entrees—salade de volaille a la Virginie, petits pains. Desserts—Vanilla Rookies glaces, petits fours, bi-cuits a la reine, almonds salee; fromage—Roquefort; cafe noir, cafe au lait, cigares.

After the feast had proceeded about an hour the Worshipful Master rapped the assembly to order. Secretary Uhler then read telegrams of brotherly greeting from Liberty Lodge of Beverly Mass. and from Fredericksburg Lodge, No 4. The Master then announced that R. W. Wm. M. Smith, who was to respond to the toast, "Alexandria-Washington Lodge," was unable to fill his engagement by reason of an emergency call for professional services, and that Past Master J. F. Birrell would take his place. Mr. Birrell arose and made a suitable response which was interspersed with amusing anecdotes.

Representative C. A. Towne, of New York, formerly Senator from Minnesota, was called upon to respond to the toast "George Washington," and it was generally conceded to have been one of the ablest and most interesting speeches ever delivered in Alexandria. He pictured Washington as one of the greatest men that had ever appeared on the earth. The speaker painted his character from every standpoint—civilian, soldier, statesman and Christian. While it is difficult at this day for a speaker to conceive anything concerning this truly great man that has not substantially been uttered before, Mr. Towne's power of embellishment seemed to electrify his hearers, all of whom followed him with close attention. The speaker then directed his remarks to the country in which our lot has been cast. He said it was the greatest nation and the greatest government the world has ever seen, but warned the present generation against presumption and the extravagant ideas concerning the country's prowess. He urged them to stand by the constitution which had been framed by their forefathers—men whose ideas of political economy were practiced and who have been regarded by succeeding generations as among the greatest that have appeared in the world. Mr Towne was averse to the colonial dreams of the United States, which he hoped would not result as disastrously as did the Roman empire of old. The speaker was loudly applauded when he took his seat.

Liberty Lodge, of Beverly, Mass., was responded to by Rev. J. J. V. Huligan, who brought fraternal greetings from that lodge to his brethren of Washington Lodge. He told in an impressive manner of the friendship existing between the two lodges and of how the good fellowship between the North and South was being re-established. He said that he felt there could be nothing but good feeling in Virginia for Massachusetts when he saw the flags of the two states suspended side by side in the hall where he was speaking.

"The Grand Lodge of Virginia" was the next toast. This was aptly responded to by Most Worshipful R. T. W. Duke. The speaker entered upon his theme with all his soul, and, being at his best, he handled it in an able and interesting manner. He recalled the names of many who had been prominent Virginia Masons in past years, and among other things said that if the State and nation had such a galaxy among its representatives and advisers there would be less business for courts.

Mr. H. D. Food arose when the "Old Dominion" was announced. The speaker was entirely at home with his subject and made a very instructive and interesting speech. He traced the history of the mother of states from her beginning at Jamestown, and the ups and downs of the Old Dominion, her remarkable powers of recuperation, especially after the devastations of wars. The speaker incidentally referred to the growth and prosperity of the South Virginia being one of the States in this section now leading in prosperity. During Mr. Flood's speech he facetiously referred to Judge Duke's delicate intimation that he is a candidate for governor which brought forth hearty applause.

The toast to Andrew Jackson Lodge, of this city, was to have been responded to by Mr. J. J. Green who, however, was detained at home by the illness of his son. His place was taken by City Attorney S. P. Fisher, who in a very interesting manner gave a brief history of his lodge and told of the brotherly love existing between the two sister lodges.

Past Grand Master Kemper was on the programme to respond to "The Tenets of Freemasonry," but owing to the lateness of the hour he simply gave a history of the bond of friendship which united Liberty Lodge, of Beverly, Mass., Constitutional Lodge, of Boverly, England, and Alexandria-Washington Lodge, of this city.

Just before Mr. Kemper made his address Judge Duke read a letter from Brother Woodberry, of Beverly, Mass., which accompanied a handsome bouquet he had sent to Mr. Kemper, and in which he spoke in endearing terms of a number of members of Washington Lodge.

During the evening the Masonic Quintette rendered a selection and solos were sung by Messrs. Geo. H. Evans and Kenneth Ogden.

It was after midnight when the banquet was declared at an end.

Fifty-ninth Congress.

Washington, Feb. 23.

SENATE.

The Senate passed a bill establishing a park on the northern portion of the Cour d'Alene Indian reservation in Idaho, and placing it under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior.

When the Senate took up the agricultural appropriation bill an amendment was agreed to appropriating $25,000 for an investigation of the proposed Appalachian and White Mountain forest reserve.

Senator Heyburn continued his aggressive opposition to that provision of the agricultural appropriation bill increasing the appropriation for the forestry bureau over one million dollars.

HOUSE

The leader of the House today brought in, immediately after convening, a rule for the passage of the Esch sixteen hour railway bill amended by the committee on rules to suit the labor organizations of the country. The rule proposed to pass the amended Esch bill instead of the La Follette bill which passed the Senate and to send it to conference.

As reported to the House today the word "knowingly," as referring to corporations, is stricken out of the bill. The labor men objected to this word as furnishing a loop hole for the railways to escape punishment. The provision excepting employees from the application of the law if prior to the twenty-four-hour period the employee had at least eight consecutive hours off duty, or in the following 24 hours period had they six consecutive hours off was stricken out.

Instead of making it the duty of the Attorney General to begin suits for violation of the law, the rule so amended the Esch bill as to make it the duty of any district attorney to bring the suit.

Minority Leader Williams asked the democrats to vote for the rule.

The democrats took to themselves in the short debate on the rule the glory of the amendments, by reason of their defeating the passage of the Esch bill early in the week.

The rule passing the Esch sixteen hour railway bill as amended today was adopted by the House by a vote of 279 to 0.

St. Mary's Church.

The Rev. Thomas Waters and the Rev. H. J. Van Ingelgem, both of the Virginia Apostolate, at Danville, will open a mission in St. Mary's Church tomorrow, February 24. The order of the mission will be made known at both the masses tomorrow. All are cordially invited to attend. The second week of the exercises of the mission will be especially devoted to the explanation of Catholic doctrines and practices and is especially intended for those who desire to hear what the Catholic Church has to say about herself. All questions sent in writing will be duly answered by the Reverend Fathers. This is quite a new feature in Catholic missionary work, and it is earnestly hoped will do much good. A box will be placed at the door of the church wherein all such questions may be deposited no signature being required.

The Reverend Fathers who are to conduct the mission commencing tomorrow at St. Mary's Church are both distinguished men, liberal and broad-minded and of great experience.

Father Waters made his studies in Rome where he graduated with high honor. On his return to his native State, Virginia, he was immediately appointed to a position of trust and responsibility, acting as chancellor for the Catholic diocese of Richmond. Then he became pastor of Manchester where he built a fine church rectory and schools. These highly honorable positions he resigned to take a course of lectures in the Mission House at the Catholic University in Washington, and since has been laboring with great success in the missionary work of Virginia where he has many friends and has accomplished much good for the Masters' cause.

Father Van Ingelgem is a Belgian. He made his studies in the famous University of Louvain with great distinction and where afterwards he became professor of philosophy and theology. He was then sent as senior cure to the wonderful church of St. Gudule, Brussels. Here he became distinguished by his zeal and preaching, but all these honorable positions he gave up, hoping to accomplish more for God in the distant plains and mountains of Virginia.

The Columbia Banquet.

The annual banquet of the Columbia Fire Company was held last night in the hall of the company on south St. Asaph street. The assemblage was presided over by the popular and esteemed president of the company, Mr. Wm. A. Smoot. Covers were laid for eighty persons and the tables were laden with everything to tempt the appetite. The president called the company to order at eight o'clock, when prayer was offered by Rev. J. A. Jeffers. At the feast appropriate and interesting speeches were delivered by President W. A. Smoot, Mayor F. J. Paff, Rev. J. A. Jeffers, Fire Wardens C. J. W. Summers and Lawrence Rushell, Chief George W. Pettye, Mr. R. M. Latham, Vice President W. K. Griffith and others. It was the unanimous opinion of all present that the banquet was one of the most pleasant affairs ever given by the Columbia company. The banquet was in charge of the following committee: Foreman Frank Petty, Noble Smith, W. L. Craven, Norman Treakle, T. L. Duffy, Walter Hughes, R. L. Merchant, J. W. Travers, H. C. Phillips and E. C. Craven, who worked earnestly to make the occasion interesting and enjoyable to all. A rising vote of thanks was tendered the lady friends of the company who waited upon guests at the tables.

Announcement cards are out of the marriage of Miss Lillian Marshall, daughter of Mrs. Nettie C. Elsom, and Mr. Edward Cleveland Haynes, of this city, which took place February 20.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place at the Baptist parsonage, No. 512 3rd street, northwest, Washington, D. C., by the Rev. Dr. J. J. Muir, Wednesday morning, when Miss Lillian Marshall, only daughter of Mrs. Nettie C. Elsom, became the bride of Mr. Edward Cleveland Haynes, of this city. The bride was gowned in blue chiffon cloth over blue silk, white picture hat and gloves to match, and carried a shower bouquet of violets. Miss Laura Virginia Haynes, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and wore a maroon gown of broadcloth with hat and gloves to match and wore violets. Mr. William H. Charles, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage. Only the relatives and immediate friends of the bride and groom were present. Mr. and Mrs. Haynes will make their home in this city, No. 1215 King street, and after March the first will be at home to their many friends.

Mr. William MacA. Green, who has been quite sick for the past few days, was yesterday taken to the Alexandria Hospital where he was operated upon for appendicitis by Dr. Smith, of this city, and Dr. Stavely, of Washington. Today his condition is said to be favorable.

Miss Fannie Abbott of Fairfax county, is visiting in New York.

Palace Car.

Mr Joseph Colvin, superintendent of the Washington, Alexandria & Mount Vernon Railway, came in for much praise yesterday and last night for the courtesy he showed the members of both the George Washington Birthday Association and of Alexandria-Washington Lodge of Masons. Mr. Colvin placed the palace car of his company at the disposal of the committees of the two organizations and accompanied them on their trip to Mt. Vernon in the morning where a wreath was laid on the tomb of Washington and to Washington at night where they went to bring to this city the speakers of the evening. Mr. Colvin being the host on both occasions and most hospitably and handsomely entertained all of his guests on the car. This was among the most enjoyable festivities of the day.

The M. M. Literary Circle.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Melchoir most delightfully entertained the M. M. Literary Circle at their home Thursday evening, February 21, at a George Washington Social. The parlors were beautifully decorated with flags and bunting. After readings from the Life of Washington and test questions on revolutionary subjects, the guests were invited to the dining room, where they found prepared for them a most enjoyable menu. The table represented a miniature battlefield, with fort, tents, flags, cannon and cannon balls to help out the scheme. After doing full justice to the good things, the guests left at a late hour, all expressing pleasure at a most enjoyable evening.

Remarkable Laying Quality of Hens.

The following will show what can be accomplished with care and careful selection of hens, bred to lay and bred from the best layers. E. W. Starnell, 912 Prince street, Alexandria, Va., has a flock of barred Rock hens, thirty-five in number, which for laying cannot be excelled by any in the country, barring no breed. He has in his pen one hen that laid more eggs in one year than any hen in the United States to date; having bred from her for this year's stock he is reaping the results. Some of her daughters show equally as good if not better results then the mother hen; one of them he is taking a special interests in that only missed five days since the 19th of December, 1906, to February 20th, 1907, and from the results of a week's laying one can readily see that he has others as good. From the 14th of February to the 20th, inclusive, there has been over fourteen dozen eggs gotten from the flock of thirty-five hens, two of which, he is positive, are not laying. Below are the number of eggs for each day:

February 14, 22 eggs; February 15, 24 eggs; February 16, 26 eggs; February 17, 23 eggs; February 18, 28 eggs; February 19, 21 eggs; February 20, 30 eggs; Total 174.

The total number for the corresponding week in 1905, with forty-five chickens was 67 eggs, and 1906 with forty-one chickens was 87 eggs, and these chickens have not just begun to lay, but have been at it all winter.

The space he has for his hens one would hardly think capable of housing so many, but the whole flock is in the pink of health; the pen, with roosts and all is twelve feet wide, twenty-four feet long, with three sides closed in and the fourth open entirely except for a wire netting in front. True, all the ground space is given to the hens, the perches being off the floor about 30 inches, with dropping boards below and the floor covered with straw, in which the hens are fed their grain, and this is where they get their exercise, (which is so essential to the health of the hen) working hard to scratch the feed out of the straw. In that way they are kept in perfect health, and by feeding the proper food and the required amount he has gotten results that could not have been bettered, were one to take the same hens and give them the natural laying season and all that nature provides for them in the springtime. When one stops to think that this was accomplished at almost the coldest time of this year, it seems wonderful.

Mysterious Find.

The feet and portions of the legs of a man or woman were found in a box in a snow bank in the back yard of a tenement-house in Third avenue, New York, yesterday. The legs had been chopped off apparently with an axe. From the appearance of the feet and legs it is believed that an attempt was made to destroy them by fire before they were placed in the box and thrown where they were found. The limbs were taken to a police station and an investigation was begun.

Police Sergeant McGuire, to whom the find was reported, said he is convinced the limbs were cut from the body of a man, probably an Italian.

He said: "I suspect the man may have been murdered and his body cut up in one of the tenement-houses in the neighborhood. It is possible the person who was carrying the feet to the East river became intoxicated and lost from his possession this evidence of a crime."

There are no marks either upon the box or the paper in which the feet were wrapped that would lead to an identification.

Detectives sifted the snow where the box was found and discovered the photograph of a young woman, on the back of which was written the name "Faber." Mary Vasquez, the janitress of the building behind which the bones were found, stated that she was sure the box was not there Thursday. She did not recognize the photograph or the name, but said that for several days letters addressed "Faber" had come to the house, which she had refused to receive because there was no one of that name in the building.

Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.
